

Forestry England

The forest cycle

Timber (wood) from trees in the forest is used to make things. We plant enough trees to replace any that are felled (cut down). That way, the forest will always be there for animals and birds to live in, and for you to enjoy.

How many parts of the forest cycle can you spot during your visit?

Tick them off when you see them

forestryengland.uk/learning